Guidelines for Draft Submission

If you want to submit an original paper, send the following to info@hkn.org:

- Author(s) names, affiliations, telephone numbers, and Email addresses;
- Draft Title;
- Draft Abstract of 100-200 words;
- Statement of Originality "This work is/will be the original work of the authors." ;
- Indication of whether the draft is intended as a short feature (~1000-2000 words) or a regular feature (~2000-4000 words); and
- Indication of whether the draft is for a particular special issue or themed issue.

The Editorial Board will let you know if the paper is a possible fit for the magazine and will provide further instructions.

Draft Review Process

After a draft is submitted, the guest editor will work with the author to ensure that it is reviewed by peers for accuracy and clarity.. A list of suggested reviewers with affiliations and contact Email addresses must be submitted with the initial draft. A draft may be accepted as written, accepted with required or optional revisions, or rejected. Typically, revisions are required. An accepted draft will be scheduled for an upcoming issue after the required files and copyright form are received.

The initial submission should be a Word document sent to info@hkn.org or to the guest editor requesting submission. The final submission must be a Microsoft Word file for the text and separate JPEG files for each figure.

Author Submission Guidelines For Accepted Articles

The typical feature paper will consist of the follow:
